COLONEL SCORES BARNES; CALLS HIM JEKYLL-HYDE

WILLIAM BARNES

DAVID HILL'S NAME ALSO HEARD

By Associated Press.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 23.—During the second day of his cross-examination in the supreme court here today, Theodore Roosevelt said that he had regarded William Barnes as a "sort of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, who, like other politicians, had his good sides and his bad sides." The colonel said he did not, as suggested by William Irvine, his cross-examiner, try to sever the ligaments between "these Siamese twins of politics." On the contrary, he declared, he endeavored to have the "Dr. Jekyll" in them absorb the "Mr. Hyde."

The trial took a recess late today until Monday, after the colonel had been questioned closely about contributions received during his presidential campaign.

It was the colonel's fourth day on the witness stand and he seemed to be as fresh as he was on the first. More letters tending to show the friendly relations between himself and Mr. Barnes were introduced. The colonel admitted that he had complied with many of the suggestions made to him by Mr. Barnes in regard to the filling of offices in the state government during the two years he was governor.

Justice William S. Andrews, presiding at the trial, is disinclined to hold court tomorrow. So if the cross-examination is not concluded today, Colonel Roosevelt will resume the stand on Monday morning.

When court was opened, Colonel Roosevelt immediately resumed his seat in the witness chair.

"Mr. Roosevelt," began Mr. Irvine, "your attention was called to the annual message in which you mentioned the establishment of a printing house. Did you ever do anything further officially in regard to that?"

"Officially, no."

"During your two years as governor, the usual appropriation bills came to you, did they not?"

"They did."

"Who was chairman of the senate finance committee? Was it Mr. Higgins?"

"Yes, it was Mr. Higgins."

"Who was chairman of the assembly committee of ways and means?"

"I do not know."

SHERIFF FOILS PLOT TO KIDNAP H. K. THAW

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 23.—The question of the sanity of Harry K. Thaw will be determined by a jury. Supreme Justice Hendrick, in a decision handed down today, granted the application for a trial made by Thaw's attorneys on a writ of habeas corpus.

Thaw was in court when Justice Hendrick announced his opinion. His face at once brightened up with pleasure. He was kept busy for nearly half an hour shaking hands before he was taken back to the Tombs.

"It will be good news to my mother," he told newspaper men. "That's all I want to say for publication."

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 23.—Sheriff Griffiths today said that he had taken every precaution to frustrate an alleged plot to spirit Harry Thaw out of New York state, which came to light last night in Norfolk, Va.

Without accusing Thaw or any of his intimates of participation in the plot, the local authorities said they had reason to believe that plans had been laid to take Thaw from his guard on his way to court here, place him in an automobile and hurry him to the first train for Virginia.

According to the sheriff the plan was first revealed by the following letter written to Assistant District Attorney Frederick J. Grosholm of New York by Lewis Wannop of Norfolk:

"NO RAY, NO HELP."

"A man comes over to me and he said I should go to New York when Harry Thaw's case comes up on the 22d of April and he will give me two more men and they will have an automobile to take Harry Thaw away when he comes to court and come to another state, and he offered me one thousand dollars and all expenses and a security for any accident happens me in any responsible place. But I refused him the job because he wanted me to go at once with him to New York, but I wanted him to give me $50 before I go with him."

"He will not want to do that, he only wanted to pay me cash, fare to New York and go there with him to his office in New York. This man is a detective, but he travels from one city to another. I know him, but I can't write you in this letter who he is. But if I could see you personally I will tell you who he is if you want me. You could wire me at once on your expense and I will come to New York."

Harold Powell, general manager of the California Citrus Exchange. He said the department of agriculture is perfecting a process of washing that will cause little or no rot.

BRIDE RICH, BUT JOB—OH MY!

Father-in-Law Forced Him to Carry Dynamite, Kleist Says

Millionaire Breitung's Daughter Was Very Affectionate

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 23.—Little and big troubles of married life as Max Kleist, chauffeur, found it, were related today to a jury in the federal district court by Kleist in his suit against his father-in-law, Edward N. Breitung, a capitalist of Marquette, Mich. Kleist demands $250,000 for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. Kleist told today of having been given a place by his father-in-law, who disapproved of the marriage, in the latter's mine in New Mexico.

Among his duties, he testified, he was required to carry dynamite. He had to set it off with a very short fuse. It was only four feet long, he said, and consequently had to run fast after lighting it. He barely had time to escape, he said.

HE OBEYED HIS WIFE.

Two telegrams went into the record, showing that his wife, who remained in New York when he went to New Mexico, had summoned him back last on April 1, 1914. He was told in one message to go to a designated hotel in New Rochelle, register under the name of Joe Baker of Boston and wire her under that name so that she would know he had followed her. The witness said he complied with the demand.

Delancey Nicolai, Mr. Breitung's lawyer, outlined the defense. Kleist, he said, came to the jury with this plea:

"I was a simple country swain with a heart untouched by love and this rich and elegant lady became smitten with my fatal beauty. She proposed to me and I married her."

Mr. Nicolai declared the facts were "very far away from the story outlined by the plaintiff's counsel."

WHO IS FOOLISH?

"The defendants are the mother and father of a foolish girl, married when not yet out of her teens," the lawyer added. "She was only 18 when he met her. She has never been in society at all. She was always chaperoned by her mother, and so far as I can see, was never wooed by a nobleman or any other."

Little time was lost in placing Kleist on the stand. After identifying affectionate letters written by Juliet to Kleist before and after their marriage, the witness described an effort he made to see his wife while she was stopping with her parents at their hotel in this city. He testified that Mrs. Breitung had there insulted him and attacked his character. He quoted her as saying, "You cannot see Juliet. She does not love you any more."

Kleist said he insisted upon seeing his wife and that finally she appeared, weeping. The witness testified that Mrs. Breitung told him that he was unable to support her daughter and that later Mr. Breitung offered him a good position in New Mexico.

$50,000 FEET AT GAY BALL

Charles Chaplin to Dance at Auditorium; 'Broncho Billy,' Too

A careless dancer at the Dance of a Thousand Colors at the auditorium may cost a big insurance company anywhere from $50 to $500, if he but treads once on a certain pair of very large feet that are to trip fantastic measures on the auditorium floor. And there's danger, too, because the feet are as enormous as they are valuable.

Charles Chaplin, "movie" star, has announced that he will dance at the big ball.

Chaplin has the most valuable feet in the world. Each one is insured for $50,000, and loss of the two is insured for $100,000. Injuries are insured as follows:

One corn, $50.
One bruise, causing pain in walking, $250.
Crushed or macerated toe, $500.
Any painful condition, $50 to $100.

Wherefore, he who steps on Chaplin's feet will make him money—although the dancers aren't invited to, for all that.

Chaplin's insurance is based on the ground that his comedy is in his feet. If his feet hurt, he says, he can't do comical things with them. Wherefore, the insurance.

Chaplin, with the entire "movie" company of C. M. ("Broncho Billy") Anderson will journey from the studios at Niles to take in the big ball. Chaplin will mingle with the dancers in all manner of costumes, and will make a masterpiece in the work of Battery B on the floor and other features.

According to the officers of the student body, this is the final word in the controversy, which has been more or less virulent during the past eleven years.

It means that the "big game," baseball, tennis and every other form of intercollegiate athletic activity will be discontinued unless the adherents of the crimson capitulate. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote, and reads as follows:

"We, the students of the University of California, in mass meeting assembled, resolve that we will not engage in competition with Stanford University unless such competition is conducted under such conditions of fairness and eligibility rules."

The resolution was introduced by Colles Mitchell, assistant graduate manager of the Associated Students, and was strongly seconded by Eddie Stanton, this year's track captain, who said:

"We have stood on this matter as a principle for the past eleven years, and each year arbitration has failed to accomplish any material change. The fact that freshmen are allowed to compete has been the cause of the greater part of the intercollegiate athletics in this state. It is not a question of this readiness and unfairness be the adoption of this resolution and absolutely living up to it. That means that if this resolution is adopted, all existing relations are to be severed until such time as Stanford adopts the freshmen ineligibility rule."

The general feeling on the campus is that Stanford will not capitulate. The statements of the student body officials that the California "mean" because this time "is given color by the fact that already there are plans for the future of the state institutions' athletics."

It is generally understood that the American game of football will be adopted, and that the annual "big game" hereafter will be played with Harvard, Cornell

Storms Sweep Vast Area of Great Southern States

Heavy Loss of Property Reported; Traffic Tied Up

By Associated Press.
AUSTIN, Tex., April 23.—Floods that swept down Waller and Shoal creeks here last night took a toll of 20 lives, perhaps more, according to estimates today. Houses were jammed in masses against bridges and the high water flooded many business houses. Heroic work was done by citizen rescue parties and by the fire and police departments. Of eight persons in one house which was swept down Waller creek all but one are believed to have perished.

Results of at least $1,000,000 have resulted from the storm, according to the information available up to noon today. Austin was the heaviest sufferer, with twelve known dead, five missing and a half million dollars' property damage.

A rain estimated at from six to eight inches turned creeks about Austin into rivers from half a mile to a mile wide in outlying parts of the city. In the darkness last night this flood swept several entire families into the water. The known dead are:

Martha Virginia Ezell, a young girl.
Helen King, a telephone operator.
George Holmes, a fireman.
Mexican woman named Cortez and her child.
Five negroes.

It is said that five others who were in the house with the Ezell and King girls were drowned.

RAINS SWEEP TWO STATES

By Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., April 23.—Torrential rains, accompanied by lightning and high winds, late last night soaked the greater part of Eastern Oklahoma, and practically all of Texas, causing numerous deaths, considerable property damage, washed out railroad tracks, demoralized train schedules and seriously interrupted wire communication. The natural gas cut off by the rain in Dallas and Fort Worth was not resumed before this afternoon at the earliest.

At Christoval, Tex., H. C. Goldwire was killed by lightning.

In a passenger train wreck on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, near Ramsdell, Tex., W. L. Boynton, fireman, was killed and other members of the crew injured. The wreck was said to have been caused by a soft track.

Ten passenger and 14 freight trains are reported marooned at Chickasaw, Okla., where the Canadian river is out of its banks, and has, it is said, cut a new channel two miles from its bed. One thousand feet of the Atchafalaya, Topoka & San Fe track has been washed out at Purcell, Okla., while service on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas between Dallas and Wichita Falls has been abandoned.

SHAWNEE, Okla., April 23.—Seven persons were injured, three dangerously, in a tornado which last night destroyed the home of J. Whittier, a farmer near here. The property damage in this vicinity was heavy.

MOTHER RISKS HER LIFE TO SAVE CHILDREN

Braving smoke and flames to rescue her two children, Mrs. J. A. McWilliamson early this morning fought her way through a smoke-choked and clog-like room to the bedroom of her five boys, and with the assistance of her husband carried them to safety.

Within less than four minutes after the children had been taken from their cribs and carried in their nightclothes into the street, the room in which they had been sleeping was a mass of flames.

The fire destroyed a portion of the Quality grocery, Forty-first avenue and the Boulevard, a storehouse at the rear of this and the rear of the McWilliamson cottage. The damage amounted to about $2000.

Mrs. McWilliamson was awakened shortly after 4 o'clock this morning by the crackling of flames in her home and the breaking of the panes of glass in the dining-room windows. She ran to the rear of the house, which was already in flames, and made her way through the kitchen, the windows of which were already sheeted with flames, and into the rear bedroom.

SHE SUMMONS HUSBAND.

She called to her husband when she saw the red glare in the windows, and he followed her into the children's room. Each seized a sleeping child from the little cribs and rushed back through the rooms to the front of the house and safety.

An alarm was sent in and the department responded immediately. Chief McGrath taking charge of the fire fighting. The front of the cottage and a portion of the grocery were saved.

The fire had started in a little warehouse, in which supplies for the grocery were kept. The little warehouse and its contents were destroyed.

The grocery is conducted by Thomas Taylor and his family, who live in rooms in the rear. They escaped without difficulty.

The three buildings are owned by McWilliamson, whose cottage, 1862 Fort-first avenue, was damaged to the extent of about $1200. Taylor lost but little of his stock in the fire.

Fleet Sure to Pass Canal, Says Daniels

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 23.—Secretary Daniels reiterated today without qualification that the Atlantic fleet will pass through the Panama Canal to the Pacific in July. Some doubt had been expressed as to whether earth movements would have caused by that time and enough dredging would be done to make the channel of sufficient depth.

"We are making all our plans to go through and will be in the canal July 4," said Mr. Daniels. "We will get through and we will go through in good shape."

Great Nebulae Drift Discovered by U. C.

Professor Campbell has measured the motion of eleven of these in the line of sight, and all of them are traveling away from the earth at from 155 to 180 miles per second.

CONFER ON FORCING DARDANELLES BY ALLIES' WARSHIPS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 23.—The best means for hastening the passage of the Dardanelles by the allies' warships was one of the principal subjects of a conference today between Minister of Marine Augagneur and Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty. The conference was held in the north of France.

On his return to Paris, M. Augagneur told a representative of the Havas Agency that the public would be wrong in thinking that the operations in the Dardanelles had been suspended.

"The French navy," M. Augagneur added, "never has thought that the straits could be forced without long preparation, but it has always believed, and is more than ever convinced, that the undertaking is perfectly feasible, and before long the object so ardently desired will be attained."

M. Augagneur said the general naval situation of Great Britain and France was in every way favorable.

PEACE AGREEMENT REPORTED IN ITALY

By Associated Press.

ROME, April 22, via Paris, April 23.—What purports to be the stipulations upon which an agreement between Italy and Austria was originally proposed are printed by the Avanti, the organ of the Socialists favoring neutrality, which asserts it obtained them in an interview with an unnamed former minister, who said he participated in the original negotiations with Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador. The following are said to have been substantially the provisions of the agreement suggested:

Recognition of the reciprocal interests of Austria and Italy to preserve the alliance; rectification of the frontier to give Italy more military security and greater confidence in the friendly feelings of Austria; settlement of the Adriatic question, including Albania, in such a way as to satisfy Italy, and eliminating sources of discord with Austria; greater racial and cultural protection for Italians remaining under Austrian rule as Prince Von Buelow expressed the personal opinion that Austria could be induced to cede Italy the territory inhabited chiefly by Italians.

ROOSEVELT FINDS BARNES IS TWINS

visible government." Now this is from your autobiography." Mr. Barnes read an excerpt that had to do with "invisible government" and publicity for campaign contributions.

"Did Perry Belmont start the movement to require publication of campaign contributions?"

"He might have. I urged such a measure in congress."

"AGAINST 'INVISIBLE GOVT.'"

"Had you until that time ever called the attention of the voters to the dangers of 'invisible government' and the necessity of publishing campaign expenses?"

"I think so."

"I don't care what you think. Did you or did you not?"

"I did."

Mr. Barnes asked Colonel Roosevelt to produce copies of his messages to congress. The colonel said he would do so later in the day.

"Did you officially mention campaign expenses and publicity before 1903?"

"I have to refresh my memory on that from my messages."

"When did Charles F. Murphy become the nominal leader of the Democratic party in New York?"

"He became the actual leader after Mr. Croker went to Europe, first in New York and then throughout the state. He became dominant."

Mr. Barnes then requested the court to instruct the witness that he answer categorically, and not go beyond and make statements.

"If the rules of law are observed and this witness is treated as any other witness," began Mr. Barnes.

"Mr. Barnes, this witness is treated the same as other witnesses. I won't permit any such language here."

"I apologize," said Mr. Barnes, and continued his cross-examination.

"Did you ever give any publicity to the fact that you, Mr. Platt and Mr.

Odell conferred over a successor for Louis Payne?"

"I did not. The newspapers did."

"Did you confer with Mr. Platt about appointing Mr. Hendricks as commissioner of public works?"

"PLATT DID OFFERING."

"Not particularly. Senator Platt himself offered Mr. Hendricks the place. He (Platt) showed a telegram of acceptance from Mr. Hendricks."

As the witness told this he laughed and the spectators joined in.

"How many times in 1909 did you see Mr. Barnes alone?"

"I could not say. Many times. Sometimes I would talk to him in the executive chamber at Albany when other people were in the room."

"If Mr. Barnes said he talked to you once, would you say he was wrong?"

"I would. I had dozen conversations with Mr. Barnes."

"If Mr. Barnes' diary would show he had one conversation with you alone and six when other people were present, would you still say he was wrong?"

"I would. I remember conversations in a club, in the executive mansion and in a railroad train going to New York after I left the governorship. I had a conversation with him in the Union League Club."

"Did you invite Mr. Barnes to the White House in Washington?"

"Yes."

"You did that in spite of his mistrust of the people and the invisible empire?"

"Yes."

"Did you use the words 'invisible government' in 1909 or 1907?"

"No."

"Did you ever discuss 'invisible government' with Mr. Barnes in Albany?"

"I did not discuss the specific phrase. I did discuss my official duty and contributions to the campaign funds by big business interests."

Mr. Barnes read a sentence from the autobiography about Mr. Platt's most efficient lieutenants being men of the highest standing in the community.

"Did you include Mr. Barnes in these lieutenants in 1913?"

"No."

"Did you include him in that class in 1909 or 1907?"

"No."

"If you did not so regard him, why did you consult and associate with him?"

"Because I thought he was above the average of the run of politicians. I believed he might become a most useful citizen."

"Did you discuss his moral standards with him?"

"I did. I expressed my hopes to him."

"So while you were in Albany you were acting as a political monitor in order to make a good citizen?"

"I tried to get every man to act rightly. Most politicians had two natures, however. I regarded Mr. Barnes as a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde. He had two sides, a good and a bad one, as other politicians had."

"Is it not a fact he first showed his control of the Buffalo convention of 1908?"

"That's my memory. I can't be sure of it."

"Did he succeed Mr. Croker in the leadership of Tammany Hall?"

"I've told you, Mr. Murphy."

"Don't you know there was a triumvirate in control of Tammany Hall?"

"I don't know about that. I know there was a fight in which several persons, including Mr. 'Fing' (William J.) Connors of Buffalo were concerned. I don't know which side he was on. I just heard of it."

"DID NOT NEED TO."

"We've now what you were governor there was 'invisible government,' you say. Why did you not make an attack then similar to the one you made on Mr. Barnes?"

"If they had blocked the legislation I wanted I would have."

Mr. Barnes read a letter written on White House stationery by Colonel Roosevelt to Mr. Barnes telling him of appointing him to office.

"Did you appoint Mr. Hyde-Barnes or Dr. Jekyll-Barnes?"

"I wanted to get the Dr. Jekyll out of him. The Treasury Department said he had done his work well and deserved reappointment."

"So you tried to cut the ligaments between these Siamese Twins—Jekyll and Hyde?"

"Oh, no. I was trying to get one to absorb the other."

Mr. Barnes picked up Colonel Roosevelt's autobiography again and read an excerpt about some people disliking Mr. Platt for esthetic rather than moral reasons.

"When reformers," read in part, "wanted to oppose Mr. Platt they put up some big business man or some man who bathed every day and did not steal. I know the silk stockinged reformers and the machine, too. The silk stockinged reformers cannot be trusted."

Several more excerpts were read about reformers and about the witness trying to get Mr. Platt to come to his way of thinking. The witness said what he wrote expressed his state of mind at the time of writing.

or some other big eastern university.

California has been urging the adoption of the freshmen ineligibility rule since 1904. The move has met with strenuous opposition with Stanford.

Relations between the two schools reached the breaking point after California footballers made open charges that Stanford made inducements to such professionals as Carroll and Austin to enter the university, merely that they might bolster up their football, baseball and track teams.

California students declare that these men could have been secured for their teams had they held out similar inducements, but that this was frowned upon as "unsportsmanlike." The adoption of the freshmen ineligibility rule, the students believe, would put a stop to this practice.

Later, Keist continued, "he went again to the Irvington hotel, in response to a telegram from his wife."

"I met my wife," he testified, "and she fell into my arms and said 'Max, I still love you. Don't mind what my father and mother say, as mother just hates you.' Letters from Juliet to Max were then introduced. In one the young woman said:

"I live only for you. I will go to the end of the world for you because I trust you so."

Another letter from the young woman to Max read:

Keist testified that he was not permitted to see Juliet to bid her good-bye before he left New York for New Mexico on December 25, 1913.

YPRES AGAIN IS UNDER HEAVY FIRE

British Forces Tightening Grip on Strategic Place at Hill No. 60.

LONDON, April 23, 1915. (The Associated Press.)—The British forces have shown no disposition under the repeated rushes of the Germans to relax their grip on Hill No. 60, near Ypres, and the fighting in this locality today shows signs of developing along the wide front with increasing intensity, even rivaling the attempts of the Germans to break through the British lines last fall.

The city of Ypres, whose historic structures were shattered by German projectiles last October again is the target of heavy shells. Huge 17-inch missiles are now being used and unless the civilian population has fled or is taking to its cellars, the losses among the people must be heavy.

There has been a lull in the German counter attacks, according to the British official report given out this morning. It is, however, assumed that both sides are being strongly reinforced, and the tone of the British communication indicated that the issue has not been finally decided.

No official explanation is forthcoming of the stoppage of traffic between England and Holland. One theory is that this is a stroke aimed at spies and another that the area is being cleared for a naval action. The latter explanation seems incomplete, however, in that if steps were being taken to clear spies from a maritime shell zone, vessels running to Scandinavian ports also would be held up.

Although Great Britain is silent, Germany apparently is expecting extensive land operations near the Dardanelles and it is common knowledge that troops of the allies are being landed in European Turkey.

GERMAN PAPERS NOT IMPRESSED

Fear American Neutrality Is Not Accepted as Such Abroad.

AMSTERDAM, April 23.—Commenting on the address of President Wilson at the luncheon of the Associated Press in New York, April 20, the Vreesche Zeitung of Berlin speaks as follows:

"We could believe in the inclination of the United States after the war to play the role to which President Wilson refers, namely to prepare assistance for the belligerent peoples. If America during the war had acted in accordance with the principle of assistance to neither side, the purveyors of arms and ammunition to adversaries cannot, all of a sudden, pretend to be the impartial friend of all belligerents in the negotiations at the conclusion of the war."

The Lokal Anzeiger says: "President Wilson is mightily mistaken if he imagines his sort of neutrality will be acknowledged and valued by the belligerents as fair play. It is impossible for Germany and her allies to esteem as a sign of 'self control' one-sided patronage by the continued toleration of a most extensive supply of arms, combined with humble endurance of all English oppression of neutral commerce. So far as Germany is concerned President Wilson need not trouble about preparations for help after the war."

ALLIES DEFEATED IN HOT COMBAT GERMANS CROSS YPRES CANAL CAPTURE TOWNS AND PRISONERS

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via London, April 23.—There was given out in Berlin today an official report on the progress of hostilities resulting from the action of yesterday.

"In the western arena of the fighting, during the action of yesterday, we advanced from our front at Steenstraete, east of Langemark, against the positions of the enemy north and northeast of Ypres. With a rush our troops moved forward along a line extending as far as the hills south of Ypres and east of Langemark. At the same time they forced their way, after a stubborn fight, across the Ypres canal at Steenstraete and Het Sas, where they established themselves on the west bank of the canal. The village of Langemark, Steenstraete, Het Sas and Pitken were taken. At least 100 French and British soldiers were taken prisoners and thirty cannon, including four heavy British guns fell into our hands.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle the active fighting yesterday again became more lively. The artillery action was especially fierce at Comblain, St. Mihiel and Apremont, as well as at a point northeast of Hilly. Infantry attacks on the part of the enemy followed only in the wooded country between Ally and Apremont. The French penetrated this region into certain sections of the enemy's trenches, but they were partly driven out again. The fighting at these quarters still continues.

"The village of Embremont, to the west of Agincourt, which had been taken by us and which was held by the French with their shells, has been evacuated by our troops. The hills to the north and south of Embremont were retaken.

"The situation in the east shows no change."

War Summary

Capture of nearly half a mile of German trenches near St. Mihiel, the southern extremity of the German wedge, which the French have been attempting for several weeks to force back, is announced today in the official communication from Paris. Spirited fighting in Belgium is also reported, and the admission is made that the Germans compelled the allies to retire from positions near Ypres.

Two men were killed by the blowing up of a British trawler in the North Sea by a German submarine.

An attack by the Russian Black Sea fleet on the Turkish coast near the Russian border is said in Petrograd to have resulted in the demoralization of Turkish forces encamped in that locality. Considerable damage was done to the Turkish barracks, and a number of Turkish vessels laden with supplies and ammunition were sunk.

The opinion was expressed by a prominent Italian statesman that Italy's participation in the war at present was unlikely. Austria would use every effort, he said, to avoid giving Italy reasonable grounds for war and would seek to place Italy in the position of the aggressor should that nation decide to take up arms.

The assault on the Dardanelles has been renewed, although it is not apparent whether the allied forces are ready to begin the expected general attack. Four British warships entered the straits yesterday and bombarded the Turkish forts, which were rejected also to induce fire across the peninsula from the Gulf of Saros. The result of this fighting has not been disclosed.

Bombardment of the Turkish forts at Smyrna, Asia Minor, is believed to have been resumed. There is nothing to indicate, however, that any move has been made toward an attack by the forces landed from the Gulf of Saros, such as is expected to accompany the next effort on a large scale to win the Dardanelles.

A Petrograd dispatch says that Russian aviators inflicted considerable damage by attacks on German positions at several points. Bombs were dropped on Plock and Mlava, Russian Poland, several German boats on the Vistula river were struck and German trenches were damaged.

OFFICIAL WAR STATEMENTS

PARIS, April 23, via London, 3:55 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Yesterday evening there were fairly lively engagements in Belgium. In the bend of the Yser to the north of Dixmude, Belgian troops repulsed an attack against the Chateau of Vicoque and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. To the north of Ypres the Germans, by employing large quantities of sphyriatizing bombs, the effect of which was felt for a distance of two kilometers behind our lines, forced us to retire in the direction of the Yser canal.

"Towards the west and in the direction of Ypres towards the south, the enemies' attack was checked. Vigorous counter attacks enabled us to gain ground and make many prisoners.

"In the wooded valley near St. Mihiel by an attack to the east and west of the positions previously captured, we took seven hundred meters of trenches and made about 100 prisoners including three officers."

CLAIM GERMANS ARE HELD AT BAY

Brave Exploit of Aviator Told in Semi-weekly Report From London.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 23, 11:50 a. m.—There was given out in London this morning the regular semi-weekly report on conditions at the front. It is dated April 22 and reads:

"The German attacks on Hill No. 50, which had stopped at the time of issuing the report of last Monday, have been renewed several times. These attacks all failed and for the time being they have ceased. We hold the entire crest of the hill and so deny its use to the enemy, who have attached great importance to it.

"There is not and there never has been any truth in the German official communication that the enemy had recaptured this position.

"During the operations around Hill No. 50 the enemy fired shells 17 inches in diameter into the town of Ypres.

"On April 21, in the neighborhood of La Bassee the enemy exploded two mines opposite our right. They failed to do damage to our trenches. Having discovered German mining operations in the neighborhood of Le Touquet, near Arras, we forestalled their effort this morning by exploding a mine which we had prepared there.

"On April 19, one of our airmen carried out a very bold and successful single handed attack on an airship shed near Ghent. He had to run a gauntlet of fire from the ground, directed by a captive balloon, in order to attack his objective. In spite of this he came down to within 200 feet of the ground and effected his object, causing a serious explosion in the shed."

REINFORCE WIRELESS

NEW YORK, April 23.—For the purpose of insuring wireless communication between Germany and the United States under all kinds of static conditions, the power of the Telefunken Wireless Station at Sayville, L. I., it was learned today has been almost trebled. Through this plan the German government transmits most of its official communications to the United States government and the German embassy communicates with Berlin. Many of the official war bulletins from the German capital are received at the Sayville station.

The electric plant has been increased from 39 kilowatts to 100 kilowatts. Three 300-foot towers to support the wireless aerials are at Sayville ready to be placed in position, and it is expected that before the end of next week the new and powerful apparatus will be in operation.

Virtually all the equipment, it is stated, was manufactured in Germany since the outbreak of the war and the cutting of the German cables by the British navy Germany found herself cut off from direct telegraphic communication with America except by wireless. The more powerful plant is intended to overcome any hindrance to constant communication with Nauen, four thousand miles distant.

British Force Takes Port of Enos, Report

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 23.—The Daily Mail's Sofia correspondent in a dispatch Tuesday, says:

"Fugitives from Enos say that following a bombardment by the allies, the British landed a force at Enos and the Turkish commandant ordered an evacuation of the port."

Enos is Turkey's most southwesterly port on the Aegean Sea. It lies just to the east of the new boundary line between Turkey and Bulgaria and is twelve miles southeast of Dedagbetch, Bulgaria.

GERMANS DENY USE OF ASPHYXIATING SHELLS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 23.—Replying to British complaints that the Germans are using shells, the gases from which asphyxiate their antagonists, a wireless dispatch from Berlin says:

"The German troops do not fire any shells, the sole purpose of which is to spread asphyxiating or poisonous gases. Such gases as develop incidentally upon the explosion of German shells are less dangerous than those emanating from ordinary British, French and Russian shells.

"Smoke developing contrivances used by the Germans in hand-to-hand combats are in no manner contrary to the laws of warfare. On the other hand, it appears from official communications that our opponents have been using illegal poisonous gas shells for several months."

Will Assess Value of Absinthe Plants

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 23, 11:30 a. m.—The minister of finance, Alexandre Ribot, appointed a commission today to assess the value of absinthe plants producing absinthe. This step is preliminary to the purchase by the government of these plants under the act recently adopted of parliament which prohibits absolutely the manufacture of absinthe.

Floating Mine Sinks Greek Sailing Ship

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 23.—A small Greek sailing ship struck a mine during a voyage from Samos Island to Athens and twelve persons on board, including the captain and two women passengers, lost their lives, says the Athens correspondent of the Daily Express. The correspondent adds that the mine evidently was one which had drifted out into the Aegean Sea from the Dardanelles.

Striking Sailors' Demands Granted

By Associated Press.

GLASGOW, April 23, 2:42 p. m.—The strike of seamen at this port was ended today. The demands of the strikers, numbering 5,400 for an increase in their wages of 15 a month, was granted. Several trans-Atlantic steamers had been held up by the strike.

HOTEL MAN GONE, SUITS ARE FILED

Action to Safeguard Notes for $8000 Brings Deals to Light.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Lester S. Melsted, until recently manager of the Hotel Sutter, disappeared on April 13 and is believed to have left the state Co-incident with his dropping from sight, there was filed an attachment suit by Isaac Harris, managing owner of the hotels Stanford and Berkeley, against the hotel Sutter and Thomas Woodward, president of the Sutter Hotel company, to safeguard $8000 worth of notes that Woodward had gone security for. Woodward is Melsted's father-in-law. According to a statement made by W. B. Kellough, acting manager of the Hotel Sutter, Melsted had nothing to do with the leasing of the rooms in the Hotel Berkeley. He declared that another manager had been responsible for that deal and that he too had disappeared. Melsted, however, answered as operating manager of the Hotel Sutter, and the terms of the lease between the hotel and Sutter street, and there was left in his wake a long list of debts for merchandise and wages. Kellough said today that Melsted's accounts with the Hotel Sutter were correct and that since his disappearance the trouble between Woodward and Harris had been amicably adjusted. When M. Israel, owner of the Hotel Majestic, learned of Melsted's disappearance, he revoked the lease on that hotel. Mrs. Lund, housekeeper of the Majestic, is said to have invested a considerable sum of money in a partnership with Melsted and arrangements have been made for a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties there.

Piano numbers by a year-old Marian Cavatagli, a recitation by Ethel Mulliken, vocal solos by Mrs. Kallach, instrumental selections by Professor Gailor, and a piano duet by Adyana and Roy Harrington, were other features. Principal E. S. Dyer tonight will deliver an address on "Thomas Jefferson." GAS KITCHEN SUIT LOST BY CLEAK

Employer Fails to Recover Damages From Deceased Cashier.

In a decision handed down by Superior Judge N. D. Arnot, Antonio Cleak, former restaurant proprietor, lost his suit to recover $12,000 alleged to have been embezzled from him by the late John Cleak during five years that the latter was an employee. The court after a plaintiff's motion for summary judgment and for the payment of his costs by John Cleak, when he purchased the restaurant business from his employer. M. Pozzi, executor in the estate of Cleak, who intervened in the suit, received nothing through the decision. Behind the proceedings lay an unusual story. John Cleak, who was no relative of his employer, was a trusted employee in the old Gas Kitchen in Thirteenth street. In 1911 Antonio Cleak disposed of his business to John Cleak and the restaurant was then moved into Eleventh street. About two years ago John Cleak lost his mind and was sent to a private sanatorium. While there it was discovered that he had wealth to the extent of $25,000 in money, bonds and notes. Antonio Cleak had been paying his expenses and living that the patient was in financial straits. With the discovery of John Cleak's wealth, Antonio Cleak commenced to do some figuring as to how that much could have been accumulated during the years the other man worked for him, as he had started in without anything. The deposit in the bank book covering a period of several years were checked up and it was found that the deposits ranged from $10 to $20 per day to as much as $30 per day. This discovery, coupled with statements alleged to have been made by John Cleak during his ravings in the sanatorium, resulted in a suit for recovery of approximately $12,000 being commenced. Shortly after John Cleak died and M. Pozzi, the administrator, took up the case. The Knave is brighter than ever— "Inside dope" on matters and men of moment in next Sunday's Big Tribune.

Publishers Talk to San Francisco Men

NEW YORK, April 23.—Members of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, at their annual dinner here last night, listened to music and speeches from San Francisco over the telephone. In the midst of the dinner, Patricia Francis Murphy, the toastmaster, announced that a committee in San Francisco would render a selection. Telephones had been provided at the place at the table. Following the musical selection, the dinner listened to speeches by James R. Field, Jr., mayor of San Francisco, Charles K. Field, editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and others in the Pacific coast city. Mayor Mitchell arrived at the dinner while Mayor Robt. was delivering his speech. He was given a telephone and exchanged greetings with the western executive. The mayor, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and Henry D. Eastbrook of New York, addressed the publishers.

Police Pay Respects to Slain Comrade

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The funeral services of Edward Malone, the policeman slain by a robber Tuesday night, were held this morning from St. James Church. Uniformed policemen acted as pall bearers and seven companies of officers turned out as a guard of honor. The Native Sons of the Golden West held a short service at the undertaking parlors, after which the procession moved to the church where a solemn requiem high mass was said for the repose of the dead officer's soul. The battalion of police was in command of Captain James Kelly. Chief White and the members of the police commission rode in an automobile in the procession. Company C, to which the dead officer belonged, marched separately from the other police, taking up its position behind the hearse and relatives, as the mourning division. The interment was at Holy Cross cemetery.

ARRANGES OWN FUNERAL; EXPIRES

Attends to Details, Goes to Bed; Dies in Five Minutes.

Chico, April 23.—To make sure that his wife would not spend too much on his funeral, and to prevent her from worrying over the arrangements, Walter Messer, prominent resident of Los Molinos, who died yesterday, asked her to look after his own funeral. He purchased and paid for his own coffin, bought the burial garment, made all other preparations and employed a barber to shave him after death. He even ordered flowers and completed other details usually attended to after death by the undertaker or lodge members. Messer returned home, went to bed, and in fifteen minutes was dead. His orders were carried out. He had been suffering for several months, but insisted up to within a week of his death to do the chores about the place, so his wife would not be overworked.

Visalia, April 23.—George H. Welden, deputy state naturalist commissioner, is here from Sacramento conferring with C. P. Collins, county horticultural official, with regard to means for controlling the epidemic of little-leaf which has seriously affected some of the older peach orchards. It is expected the state department, at the conclusion of the present investigations, will have a type of spray to recommend for fighting the pest.

Visalia, April 23.—Walter Frye, supervisor of the Sequoia National Park, states that the automobile road to the big trees is now open and that the trip can be made in comfort to the park entrance. It is not expected that the road to General Grant Park will be entirely free from snow before May 1.

Chico, April 23.—One of the largest irrigation projects ever undertaken in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys is being worked out in Glenn county. It is known as the Ryan project and will irrigate 25,000 acres. Water will be taken from Stony creek and ditched so far as to serve lands high in the foothills as well as low in the valley on the west side of the Sacramento river. John P. Ryan, an engineer of Willows, is working out the preliminary details and it will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

Chico, April 23.—Women club members of the city are split over the endorsement of a candidate for president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The fight is on between the supporters of Mrs. A. J. Jones of Oroville and Mrs. Emily Hopkin of Woodland, the two avowed candidates. The Chico Art Club elected Mrs. Emily Hopkin delegate to the state convention and instructed her to vote for Mrs. Jones, the delegate, however, being a Hopkin supporter. Other clubs will meet this week and make endorsements, and the fight will be carried into all the clubs.

Antioch, April 23.—Elaborate preparations are being made for entertaining the delegates to the annual district meeting of the Young Men's Institute, to be held here next Sunday. Direction of the preparations is in the hands of Father E. Lawrence, O. P., who is in charge of the Catholic church at this point. Delegates from the various cities and towns of the district are preparing to attend the meeting to the number of 600 and the work of the degree will be exemplified by either the Napa or Vallejo delegates. Those who have charge of the various features include: Lee Higgins, William Higgins, Fitzpatrick, M. Lynch, John McGinley, Lyons, Patrick Ford, Edmund Uren and W. J. Kelley.

Stockton, April 23.—The Central California Dental Society has been organized in this city, with the membership limited to dentists residing in San Joaquin, Calaveras, Tuolumne and Alpine counties. The object of the society is to hold regular meetings for the discussion of subjects pertaining to the profession.

Grass Valley, April 23.—A three-foot ledge of gold quartz, estimated to run hundreds of dollars per ton, has been struck in the Blue Bear mine, the Rough and Ready district. The mine is one of the oldest in California, but has never been worked at depth. The strike was made in a new shaft 350 feet down.

JOSEPH JORDAN SEEN IN MANILA, REPORTED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—An echo of the mysterious disappearance of Joseph Jordan, a former San Francisco attorney, who disappeared in July, 1913, and who for a time was supposed to have been lost when a sloop he owned was wrecked on a Raccoon strait, came to police attention yesterday through Joseph Adams, an attorney from Manila.

Adams said that he knew Jordan in Manila a little more than a year ago. At that time he said Jordan was practicing law there under the name of "Jordan." Adams said he introduced Jordan to a young woman and that they became engaged to be married. The name is, he says, Jordan left for Singapore. That is the last heard of him. Joseph Jordan left a wife. Suspicion arose that he had staged the apparent accident and that he subsequently left the country.

MINE WORKERS' OFFICER TO ATTEND MEN'S TRIALS

By Associated Press.
TRINIDAD, Col., April 23.—Following the completion of the jury in the case of John R. Lawson, international executive board member of the United Mine Workers of America, Attorney H. N. Hawkins, chief counsel for the defense, left for Canon City, Col., where five cases charging members of the United Mine Workers with conspiracy to murder, assault and robbery are expected to come up in the district court. The cases grew out of the attack by striking miners upon Chandler, a camp of the Victor American Fuel Company, in April, 1914. Twenty-seven defendants are named in the murder and assault cases which are based on grand jury indictments in connection with the killing of one mine guard and the wounding of another. Ninety defendants are named in the robbery cases. The cases are expected to come up today on a motion to quash by the defense.

OUTSIDE CORPORATION MUST FILE FOR SUIT

By Associated Press.
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 23.—United States District Attorney Judge Fred M. Brown ruled yesterday that an outside corporation doing business in Alaska cannot sue in an Alaska court unless incorporation papers are filed, an agent appointed and the federal tax paid in Alaska. The ruling was made in a case brought by W. J. Vansouner, Company of Portland against a McCarthy saloon-keeper from whom the Portland company sought to recover $600 for liquor sold the defendant. The court found that the Portland company was doing business in Alaska without having complied with the requirements laid down and was barred from litigation in Alaska courts.

DOVE FLUTTERING
OVER BALL WARPeace Overtures May Lead to
Conclusion of Eastern Strife.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Conferences seeking to establish peace between the Federal league and organized baseball were to be continued here today, according to published reports, although parties to the conferences declined to say whether a meeting had been held or what progress toward peace had been made.

Negotiations for peace were begun at a meeting yesterday, according to the Chicago Herald, which says that R. H. Johnson, president of the American League; Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals; Robert L. Hedger, owner of the St. Louis Americans and Judge George H. Williams of St. Louis, one of the attorneys for organized ball, met and discussed peace proposals.

It was said that certain club owners in the Federal League had been offered clubs in the National League and there would be amalgamations in at least five cities which now have Federal and National league baseball clubs.

President Gilmore of the Federals, when asked concerning the developments said that Mr. Ball expected to remain in Chicago today. He added:

"Why, you know there should have been peace in baseball long ago." Announcement from President Gilmore's office that he and Philip Ball had "gone out somewhere and would not be back until late in the day," and from Pres-

What Busy Santa Clara Valley Is Doing

FIND SAN JOSE LIES

SAN JOSE, April 23.—Proof that strange animals once roamed in a prehistoric forest 200 feet below the present level of the Santa Clara valley is being unearthed by workmen engaged in sinking a well in the railroad yards in San Jose. Mixed in clay brought up from a 200-foot stratum are bones and pieces of timber. A piece of vertebral bone has been turned over to Superior Judge E. F. Connelley and will be referred to savants for examination.

Ident Johnson's office that he, too, had left without expecting to return before afternoon, gave rise today to rumors that the head of the independent league had joined the others in discussing negotiations for peace in baseball.

Banquet at the Expo-

SAN JOSE, April 23.—Illumination artists will paint the Tower of Jewels and the sky over the "pastel city" red and white on the night of May 4, when the Santa Clara Alumni Association banquet is served at Old Faithful Inn, according to reports submitted last night at a meeting of the university committee of arrangements.

The reunion is expected to be one of the most memorable in the history of the Jesuit institution. A special train will be chartered to carry the 300 alumni living in this city. Former students of the college from all parts of the country are expected to be present.

Frank Hennessy, president of the Indoor Yacht club, and Martin V. Merie, the playwright, both of San Francisco, are on the program committee.

WILDFLOWERS WILL MAKE
SANTA CLARA FAIR BOOTH

SAN JOSE, April 23.—Frank E. Chapin and Edward Shoup of the Peninsula Railroad Company have made arrangements with schools of a dozen suburban towns for the collection of wild flowers to be exhibited in the Santa Clara county booth at the Exposition tomorrow, "Wild Flowers Day." The blooms will be shipped free into San Jose, where they will be packed by women at the headquarters of the San Jose chamber of commerce for transportation to the fair.

WAR VETERAN DIES.
SAN JOSE, April 23.—Col. W. C. Bailey, commander of a "student regiment" which enlisted from the state university at Madison at the outbreak of the Civil War, and a former state senator from this section, died last evening after a long illness.

Colonel Bailey was graduated from Beloit College, was principal of the high school at Green Bay, Wis., for some time, then studied law and was admitted to practice in California courts. Three sons survive him—Carlton P., Louis H. and Norris T. Bailey.

WIDOW ASKED TO EXPLAIN MYSTERYRelict of Dead Man Charged in South With His Murder.

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Additional mystery surrounds the death of William Murphy, who was shot at his home in La Canada and died as a result of evidence given at the inquest in Glendale yesterday. Conflicting statements made by Murphy prior to his death and the apparent absence of any motive for the killing, if the real one, are puzzling the officials who are working on the case.

Mrs. Irene Murphy, widow of the dead man, was held for a preliminary hearing April 23 by Justice Forbes yesterday upon a complaint filed by Assistant District Attorney Clair Woodworth charging her with the murder of her husband.

The filing of the complaint followed the holding of the inquest by Coroner Hartwell, at which the jury returned a verdict that the victim was killed by a 32-cal. L. & G. gunshot wound fired by some person unknown to the jury, and the killing was homicidal.

WIFE IS CALM.

Mrs. Murphy, who is 50 years old, sat with her attorney, Chauncey Gardner, at the trial. She was calm and collected and was apparently unmoved by the proceedings.

The first witness introduced at the inquest was Rev. Leander Lane, who testified that he was in his vineyard just before the shooting. He saw a man when he heard a shot, followed by groans. He ran across the road and found Murphy lying about twenty feet from the house, bleeding from a wound in the stomach. He testified that Murphy said: "My wife shot me."

Antone G. Williams, a rancher, testified that he helped carry Murphy into the house and the dying man said, "I stepped on it." The witness said Mrs. Murphy declared her husband went out to shoot at the house, but he fell and when he picked it up it exploded.

Dr. A. F. Wagner testified that he did not think from the appearance of the wound, that it was inflicted at very close range.

John Washburn testified that he had seen Murphy shortly before the shooting and that Murphy was intoxicated and had been drinking.

Detective Markolls stated that he had arrested a man named John T. Raymond, who would tend to establish a motive for the shooting, but refused to disclose the nature of this evidence.

"I never harmed my husband," said Mrs. Murphy yesterday. "We were as good as dead and there was no trouble between us. He shot himself accidentally and when I heard the shot I ran out and saw the gun lying on the ground. I picked it up and carried it into the house. I was so excited and terrified at the sight of my husband lying wounded that I hardly know what I did."

BERNARD GLAD TO TRY
HIS HAND AT POTASH

Barney Bernard, with "Potash and Perlmutter," is coming to the Macdonough for one week, starting May 2.

When he was a small boy Bernard admitted his father induced him to go to the potash and the Kernell Brothers. Not many years later he won distinction for his creation of the role of Abe Potash. And between these two periods in his artistic career he fairly ran the gamut of stage experience. Later his associate in "Potash and Perlmutter," Alexander Carr, Bernard did not get recognition without years of hard work and observation. He had tried salesmanship as a youth, but proved that as a salesman he might as well be a clown, so he took to acting for a living.

"It was a great satisfaction to me," says Mr. Bernard, "to be permitted to create the role of Abe Potash, especially in view of the fears of many Hebrews that Abe and Max were on the stage would be caricature of the race. As a matter of fact, Potash and Perlmutter are two faithful composite pictures of a type of Hebrew business men in this and other cities, a type of which there are thousands and thousands of examples."

DISCUSS MEANS FOR

Eighteen master mechanics and road foremen of the Santa Fe Company, together with officials of the Westinghouse Company, met yesterday at the Key Route Inn in the annual efficiency meeting of the corporation's mechanical employees. Points for the betterment of the service and the introduction of new devices are being discussed. Those who presided over the discussions yesterday were:

Mechanical Superintendent S. L. Bean of Los Angeles, General Airbrake Constructor G. W. Wood of Topeka, and Assistant Airbrake Constructor F. C. Smith of San Bernardino. Those in attendance are:

William Dawes, Ariz.; George Anderson, Winfield, Okla.; H. Reynolds, Needles, B. Kent, Bakersfield; J. C. Love, San Bernardino; Davis Hopkins, George Wilson and J. Pullar, Fresno; A. L. Crew, Los Angeles; E. H. Harlow, Richmond; Geo. Walker, Prescott; S. G. Down and D. M. Lewis, Westinghouse Company.

TO TALK OF SPEECH DEFECTS.

Dr. Henry Horn, San Francisco specialist in the treatment of speech defects, will present the third lecture in the series on mental deviation being given under the auspices of the department of education of the exposition at the Palace of Education, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Saturday. His subject will be "The Cause and Treatment of Speech Defects." The lecture has been planned especially for educators about the bay. California school people have, up to the present, followed the policy of "passing by on the other side" from speech defects among school children, and it is believed the time has come to emulate some of the eastern cities in a study of this necessary subject.

$20,000 SUIT BEGINS.

Trial of a suit for $20,000 alleged personal injuries brought by Herbert Satch against the Chicago Exposition, on a car carnival company, has commenced before Superior Judge Harris. Plaintiff alleges that he was employed by Blome to operate the electrical apparatus in what is known as a "crazy house" and as the result of improper electrical connections he sustained serious burns.

Has Used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in my household for the past twenty years. I began giving it to my children when they were small. As a quick relief for croup, whooping cough and ordinary colds it has no equal. Being free from opium and other harmful drugs, I never felt afraid to give it to the children. I have recommended it to a large number of friends and neighbors, who have used it and speak highly of it." Mrs. Mary Minke, Shortsville, N. Y. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.

NEUTRALITY LAWS
ARE EXPLAINEDNot Exalted, But Practical in Expert.

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Neutrality was defined as something that was not at all morally exalted, but exceedingly practical, by Frederick Rene Couderc of New York, an authority on international law, who delivered the annual address to members of the Law Academy of Philadelphia here last night. In discussing the legal aspects of the subject he said:

"The cardinal distinction to be observed is that between the action of the government and that of the individual, and between the law which is enforced by the neutral state against its own members and the law which is enforced by the belligerents themselves as against the subjects of neutral states."

Mr. Couderc declared that while a neutral government was bound to abstain from taking part in the war or permitting its territory to be used as a base for military operations, commercial transactions of the individual should be unaffected, however, to the right of the belligerent to prevent such trade if it be contraband, or if it be in violation of a legitimately constituted blockade.

Under the category of contraband, he said, have been held to fall generally articles which were of military use to the enemy.

"From as early a time as that of Croesus," the speaker added, "it has been recognized that there were many articles capable of a double use; that is, an innocent or a warlike use, depending on

SAN LEANDRO, April 23.—

"When a young man is suddenly physically stricken as I have been it is then that he realizes to the full the value of his school education. It was all I had to fall back on," M. C. Hanks, who is taking advanced work at Stanford University, and who lost his sight and both hands in a Colorado mine explosion, told pupils of the public school here yesterday.

Unable through the loss of his hands to read books by the Braille system of the blind, Hanks has had to rely on memory in educating himself. He has memorized 40,000 words of quotations from Shakespeare, Emerson and others.

In his talk before the school children he pointed out the moral of being optimistic even in the face of great hardships and the training of the will to overcome obstacles.

whether they were used by the civilian or the military population. Recognition of this, he said, brought about the category of conditional contraband goods."

FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1915.

SAN FRANCISCO'S WATER PROBLEM.

There is an interesting inside to the water situation in San Francisco, and this inside explains why the municipal government with Mayor Rolph in the forefront is striving so desperately to accomplish the purchase of the Spring Valley system.

Under motives of political diplomacy, of pique, and of half a dozen other rather less-than-worthy considerations, the municipality undertook some years back what is known as the Hetch-Hetchy project. It is possible that those who devised this scheme with those who later (the present municipal organization included) accepted and indorsed it, believed it to be practicable. But there were others—not connected in any way with the Spring Valley interest or with the game of local politics—who understood that it was an extravagant, and regarded practically, an unthinkable project. The reasons are so many that it would be a day's job to state them, and it would take maps, diagrams and some pages of text adequately to set them forth. It is enough to say that Hetch-Hetchy is 160 miles distant from San Francisco, that dams, conduits and other works necessary to bring the water to San Francisco—without considering a local distributing system—would cost many millions of dollars. Some engineers say fifteen, others say fifty. Probably both are wrong. It would be more than anybody has yet had the hardihood to name.

Water carried 160 miles in a system of conduits, consisting partly of open ditches, would be—to use a phrase we once heard applied to a mess of dirty clothes—"all nicely ready for the laundry." In other words it would have to be worked over by filtration processes—at another big cost. It would be not one whit better than an equal quantity of water drawn from the Sacramento river above the tidal zone, only forty miles away.

There is another element in the situation, and a serious one. An irrigation district in the San Joaquin valley has long-established and admittedly prior rights to a large share of the Hetch-Hetchy waters. San Francisco's Hetch-Hetchy project comes in as a sort of second mortgage; and there are engineers of standing who estimate that in dry seasons and after the irrigationists are supplied, there will not be enough Hetch-Hetchy water for San Francisco. In the heat of factional and political controversies these considerations are overlooked or minimized. But a fact is a fact, even though there be those who have ignored it. And at last it has dawned upon the dull intelligence of San Francisco officialdom that in the Hetch-Hetchy scheme they have caught a Tartar.

In the meantime San Francisco is hard-up for water. A fact once denied, but now admitted, is that taking the Spring Valley system in the aggregate of its resources there is available water for a long period to come. But development is needed and the Spring Valley Company, being a coldly calculating business organization, will not invest the funds necessary to develop an increased supply with the threat of a municipal system before its eyes. Nor will the Spring Valley people extend their mains to certain newer parts of San Francisco where there is now no water service at all or at best only a very limited service. Extension and enlargement of mains, as well as increase at the source of supply, is very important, both for the growth and the immediate welfare of San Francisco. And by the lowest calculation it will take ten years to get in Hetch-Hetchy water, even if there were no problems of quality and quantity in connection with the project and if the work were to be pushed at high speed.

It does not require a world of scientific knowledge, nor yet a world of practical judgment, to see that San Francisco is in a serious situation in regard to her water supply and that her politicians and officials have got themselves in a hole in relation to Hetch-Hetchy. Presuming that Hetch-Hetchy is everything that has ever been claimed for it, it will not be available for ten years or more. Presuming the supply to be sufficient, the cost of the project would be enormous. In the meantime work is practically stopped because there is no sale for the bonds already authorized in furtherance of this project.

All this makes it easy to understand why Mayor Rolph and his official associates, erstwhile so critical of Spring Valley and its belongings and privileges, likewise erstwhile so enthusiastic for Hetch-Hetchy, are now seeking to buy Spring Valley and to sidetrack Hetch-Hetchy. They are under the necessity of meeting immediate requirements or being held responsible for a grave situation. Likewise they have in Hetch-Hetchy a large and rapidly growing elephant. This is why his honor, the Mayor, is in agonies of chagrin over the failure of the purchase project in last Tuesday's election. This is why he declares the water issue to be a matter of such vital importance as to overshadow personalities, animosities, candidacies and politics. This is why he declares that "it is idle to talk as if Hetch-Hetchy, 160 miles away and yards distant, were at our doors and to be had by turning on a faucet." This is why Mr. Rolph, upon the heels of Tuesday's Waterloo, has inaugurated a new campaign for purchase of the Spring Valley system. The plain truth is that San Francisco must have this system or go thirsty—and thirst in any form is not in line with the propensities of our over-the-bay neighbor. The Mayor artlessly shipped into his campaign arguments the declaration that the Spring Valley system, "properly developed," would "answer the needs of San Francisco for fifty years to come." This remark is profoundly significant: the meaning of it is that if Spring Valley should be acquired, the colossal, costly and doubtful Hetch-Hetchy project would be permitted to go by default. Once the city has Spring Valley there will easily be found specious pleas for the indefinite postponement of Hetch-Hetchy.

Dr. David Starr Jordan has written a letter to one of the New York papers in which he makes a strong appeal for the people of Palestine whom, he says, have been very prosperous but who are now suffering most seriously and through no fault of their own. The trade in oranges and other fruits, sent out from Jaffa to the winter hotels along the Mediterranean, has come to an end. There are no patrons for the hotels. The oranges at Palestine rot on the trees. The steamers no longer touch at Jaffa or at Beirut. The great stream of tourists which flow through this part of the world in April has not arrived. The people have no source of income and must fall back on their friends in America and other parts of Europe. They are involved in a dreadful war in which their only part is to suffer. "They are silent," say Dr. Jordan, "for we who know them appeal to the generous people of this nation at once for sympathy for their ideals and for practical help in this unforeseen and overwhelming stress and disaster. Friends of Palestine in this country and England, particularly, hope that in the rearrangement frontiers and the breakup of territory after the war that Palestine may become a free, neutralized state."

The coming to California of Mme. Montessori of Rome, whose system of mental training for very young children has made so great a stir in the educational world, is naturally an incident of importance. Some two years ago very high authorities gave unqualified commendation to Mme. Montessori's system, assuming and even certifying to its value as a vital contribution to the philosophies of education. But further study is developing weaknesses in this system. Its fundamental defect is that it originated in a study of defective mentality. Mme. Montessori's first purpose was to work out a system, not for the mentally normal, but for the mentally backward. Subsequently she adapted her system, or sought to do so, to the normal child. But under close analysis there is still discoverable in it the effect of influences which marked its origin. It is still rather more than less a scheme calculated to interest and develop a backward mind than to promote the activities of a normal mind. Considered as a method of education for universal use it is far from having established the claims originally meant for it.

No sphere of human interest, with the possible exception of religion and therapeutics, suffers more from innovating projects, too hastily accepted, than that of education. It is an exceptionally cold and lonesome season when somebody, somewhere in the world, does not bob up with a "discovery" warranted by the author, and not uncommonly attested by high authority, to revolutionize the established scheme of things. These discoveries come as frequently and persistently as new fads in diet and medication. There is always an emotional and well-meaning element to accept them upon face value and to seek to establish them in universal practice. It was so with the system of kindergarten training, now more or less under question if not in positive discredit. More recently it was with the Montessori system. Last year it was sex hygiene. Pretty soon it will be something else. Our school systems everywhere are loaded up with fads now largely outworn, very burdensome to the youth of the country and withal very costly. We know of nothing in connection with which there is greater need of caution and restraint than the proposals forever cropping up to engrain some new "ism" upon the already too-greatly-expanded curriculum of our schools.

Professor Thomas H. Reed of the University of California emphasizes in a timely lecture some of the dangers and abuses which are likely to arise in connection with the recently enacted law providing for non-partisan state elections. Professor Reed is of opinion that candidates if they are cut off from all political connections will seek support based on racial or religious affiliations or even upon medical predilections. Professor Reed declares that when deprived of party political organization we shall see the upspringing of religious, fraternal, civic, trade, sporting and many other forms of association or organization, all of which will strive in the primaries to elect their candidates. Candidates before the primaries will multiply three fold. Consequently a small number of votes will be required to make selections for the final elections. All of this means, of course, that men are and must remain partisans. They may be divided on political lines but if that outlet or mode of expression be denied them they will certainly divide upon other lines. On the whole it is very much better to have parties, because parties have to do directly with the principles of government and issues developed by its administration. We should select our public officials by reason of their fitness for the place which they seek and because of their knowledge of fundamental governmental principles. It would be very unfortunate to have our elections converted into a contest, for instance, between various forms of religious belief. On the whole we had better stick to political parties and we guess that in the end a large majority of the people of California will wish to do this.

In his professional as in his private character the fundamental consideration with Mr. Chickering always was that of social responsibility. His varied activities rested upon this solid foundation. It followed that wherever his hand or influence were felt—and they were felt widely—there was a contribution to community welfare. Mr. Chickering stood for integrity in all the relations of life. He stood for thoroughness and solidity in his professional work. He stood for responsibility in citizenship and for progress under wholesome restraints in all things. He may properly be characterized as a sustainer and promoter of the best things in civilization. Verily, a good and a useful man has gone out of the world.

San Francisco is again showing its disdain for opera. Even popular admission from twenty-five cents to a dollar seems to make no difference in the matter whatever. The last performance of the People's Opera Company, organized for the particular purpose of providing opera at cheap rates and composed of the whole of very excellent artists, was so poorly attended that it has been announced that because of counter attractions the company will give up its program for the next few days, the idea being to wait till the interest in the passing of Jack Johnson and other matters of moment is blown somewhat away. But those who best know San Francisco understand perfectly. And one feels sorry for the People's Opera Company, which is really a fine organization and well equipped vocally.

Obviously there is something wrong with a system of food inspection which some months ago permitted the flesh of hogs of doubtful health to be sold in this market, and which now permits the importation and sale of infected potatoes. Probably the trouble lies with the inspectors. But no matter where the fault is, the people of Oakland don't want diseased meat or wormy potatoes. Surely there is authority somewhere to enforce careful and judicious methods of inspection, and The Tribune suggests that it is time for such authority to get busy.

A PROTEST.

Colonel Irish Objects to a Policy Which Brings Infected Potatoes Into This Market.

To the Editor: Many carloads of Nevada potatoes consigned to Oakland were stopped at Sacramento because the inspectors found the tubers to be full of evil worms. The embargo on them was finally raised, because they were sent to Oakland for seed and not for food.

I have recently visited our retail vegetable markets and find them full of these Nevada potatoes, and the inspectors of seed potatoes, who the consumers are eating, instead of demanding a more sound and excellent Delta potatoes. The matter is wafering because the other potato states have quarantined against California potatoes to the injury of our market in Texas and the South. At the same time we have shipped to us potatoes with evil worms, from Arizona and Tucson, from Nevada, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

It is unfair to permit these wormy and diseased potatoes to enter California, and to sell to consumers at a high price, under the pretense that they are superior to our own product.

It is to be regretted we did get evil worm in some of our Delta districts. It came in seed from Nevada and Oregon. But we sought advice of the entomologists of the agricultural department, and proceeded to stamp it out.

I have failed to find a single potato in the Delta crop of last year infected by this worm.

Of course, if people wish worms with their potatoes, it is no affair of mine. But as a potato grower, I resent the unfairness that is in admitting wormy potatoes from states that unjustly quarantine our product.

An Irreverence.
I'm glad I'm not the early bird.
To breakfast all alone
I'd rather roll, from all I've heard,
Than be a mossy stone
And when the sun is shining hot
Upon a summer day
I'd rather seek a shady spot
Than start in making hay.
I want no bird in hand at all.
In business let them fail
I'd seldom go before a fall
Except it brings to bring
As I think o'er the thoughts so green
That mighty minds have thought
I'm tempted seriously to state
A lot of them are bunk

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The Monday Night Condition Club gave its final party for the season in Masonic hall.

A reception is to be given at the residence, 315 Clay street, in honor of the engagement of Miss Theresa Levy and Charles Stamper, both of this city.

W. H. Waste of Berkeley has returned from a ten days' trip to Los Angeles.

Dr. D. A. Proctor returned from New York.

The pleasant relations which have subsisted for the past twenty-seven years between Rev. J. K. McLean as pastor and the members of the First Congregational church, are about to be discontinued, through the resignation of his office by the reverend gentleman. Dr. McLean has decided to devote all his time to the up-building of the Pacific Theological Seminary.

The lecture hall of the Young Men's Christian Association was crowded with an audience gathered from the ranks of workmen of Oakland to listen to a discourse by Professor George D. Herron, who has come to Oakland to deliver a series of lectures upon the general theme of Christian socialism. The subject of the discourse was "The Church and the Workman." The Native Sons of the Golden West held their Grand Parlor session in Oakland, beginning the festivities today with a grand parade, the most elaborate and successful Oakland has ever seen. Tonight the delegates will attend, in a body, the testimonial to Alex. Rossborough, which takes place in the Moonmouthe theater. A program of unusual brilliancy will be presented by the "Falmouth Troupe," which has been formed for the occasion only. It will be the very best combination of local talent that has ever appeared in such an entertainment.

Justice Fred C. Clitt of this city, who is now on his wedding tour, was admitted to practice in the United States Supreme Court at Washington.

AGAINST LOAD BUSINESS BEARS

Senator Weeks, Presidential Possibility, Argues for More Freedom.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—"Realism and efficiency are the only business. Give it real freedom. Make efficiency rather than government supervision and restriction its dominant influence. Such intelligent action will make a new era which will be at the same time a better one."

This briefly is the slogan of Senator John Weeks, United States Senator from Massachusetts, who arrived here this morning after two weeks spent in Southern California. He comes on a pleasure trip to visit the Exposition and with Mrs. Weeks is registered at the St. Francis Hotel.

Senator Weeks is an interesting national figure by reason of the fact that he is prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1916. He addressed the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce last night in the Merchants' building. His subject was "The Relations of Government and Business."

Immediately after his arrival on the Mark he was interviewed by a Tribune representative and spoke forcefully and with conviction his sentiments regarding conditions generally in the United States.

Senator Weeks served in the lower house from the 52d through the 54th congresses and was elected senator in 1912. He was recently a member of the commission to study and determine the rate of pay which railroads should receive for transporting the mail and his sentiments in regard to the situation are interesting in connection with general railroad legislation throughout the country.

SEES RAILROADS LOSE. "My studies in connection with the railroad have convinced me," said the Senator this morning, "that they are carrying passengers, including mail and express, without profit; that an actual loss is incurred in many cases and yet the rates charged for passenger service within the state are controlled by state regulation and in many cases are fixed by law."

Substantially speaking the only profit made by railroads in their present condition comes from their freight service.

After discussing the Sherman anti-trust act the trade commission act and the Clayton anti-trust act, the latter two of which were passed by congress last year, and speaking of other matters of national interest, Senator Weeks said: "The government is not an economical but an expensive business agency; that commission or bureaucratic methods are likely to be harmful to business activities and extension; that there is a tendency on the part of bureau officers to reach out for more power even if they do not assume authority which the law does not give them; that the red tape incident to government methods is not conducive to the best interests of any business and that legislation similar to the trade commission bill, places all business of any considerable volume in a straight jacket which will retard its growth and increase the expense of operation without any corresponding benefits."

"Monopolies should not be tolerated unless they are of the character of the railroads, or those incident to a patent, in which case they should be controlled. Consolidations should be permitted where the public interests will not be affected adversely by so doing. Competition, in ordinary business, should be encouraged, and generally speaking it may be depended on to work out the best results for not only the producer, but the consumer."

"The common law provides means to prevent the violation of those who use fraudulent or oppressive methods. Punish the individual who violates the law, but do not punish at the same time the entire trade with which he is connected, his business, employees and shareholders, for which he serves. Remove all unnecessary handicaps from business, give it real freedom, make efficiency rather than government supervision and restriction its dominating influence."

"Such intelligent action will mean a new era which will be at the same time a better era. By following this course we will insure the retention of our own markets for our own producers, and a fair opportunity to invade other markets; reverse this policy and we may be sure that we cannot gain the latter and are likely to gradually lose the former."

Senator Weeks declined to discuss politics in any shape or form, or to comment on the probability of his being a Presidential candidate next year. The senator retired from business as soon as he was elected to the Senate and has given all his attention to government affairs. He will remain here ten days, visiting the Yosemite valley and then going home via Portland, Seattle and the Canadian Pacific railway.

TITLE TO OREGON LAND BEFORE SUPREME COURT

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 22.—Title to approximately 150,000 acres of land in Western Oregon was up for consideration today before the Supreme Court. The lands in question were included in the domain granted to aid in the construction of the Oregon and California Railroad. The railroad now claims title under this grant. The federal government is seeking to have the courts declare the land forfeited because of the sale of a part of the land in disregard of the section in the grant which provides the land should be sold to actual settlers at not more than $250 an acre and in 160 acre tracts. The railroad sold in large tracts to timber companies.

RUTH USED TO BE A "TRAILER"

But Now She's in Step with the Latest Style. Since She's Been Trading at CHERY'S.

Ruth used to discard her winter clothes about the last of May. About a week ago, however, she might have been seen having a lovely time up at CHERY'S pretty shop on Market street. And her friends received something of a shock when they saw the next day in an unmistakable SPRING costume, exquisite, stylish and becoming.

It looked expensive—the clever little sand-colored suit she wore. Their prices were what you'd class "moderate" and are to be paid in WEEKLY INSTALLMENTS. To her intimates Ruth confided that she's planning on one of Chery's swaggar new "babe" a little later on.

Rebating by Insurance Companies Prohibited Under Bill by Benedict

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Rebating by insurance companies to clients who carry their big policies is prohibited as the law is passed by the legislature. It is regarded as the most important piece of insurance legislation likely to become a law.

Supporters of the bill contended that insurance companies have been rebating the policy once in a while with the roads of discrimination against the great mass of small customers by extending favors to big customers. It was claimed that the attention of rebating would result in a reduction of rates to the small policy holders.

Other insurance bills passed by the Assembly and sent to the governor were: By Benedict—Prohibiting insurance companies from misrepresenting the terms of policies. By Benedict—Requiring the licensing of fire insurance brokers.

By Benedict—Reducing the fee for registering life insurance policies from $1 to 25 cents.

DEFENDS CHILD IN BARTOL CASES

Sheriff Huffman Denies Co-operating With Judge to Obtain Confessions.

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Generally speaking Sheriff Andy Huffman of Del Norte county denies last night before the Assembly committee investigating impeachment charges against Judge Childs, that he and the judge co-operated to obtain confessions from defendants in return for their return for pleas of guilty and the accused persons to obtain to serve out light sentences. Sheriff Huffman made his first appearance as star witness for the defense and under examination by Judge Childs and Attorney J. M. Inman of Sacramento he related the substance of conversations he had with various defendants in the Bartol cases.

The impeachment petition alleges that Judge Childs and Sheriff Huffman virtually "railroaded" to prison five innocent persons and convicted of a statutory offense against Mary Bartol, the young daughter of Mrs. Ruby Bartol, now serving forty years in San Quentin. Under cross-examination Sheriff Huffman testified that the little girl told him Otto Cretzer alone was guilty of the offense against her. Cretzer and other men were convicted in Judge Childs's court, mainly, it was said, on the testimony of the child.

MUCH TESTIMONY REVIVED. Much of the testimony presented to the committee last week by Mrs. Bartol, Mrs. Harn, Cretzer, Taggart and Boosler, the five prisoners, was revived last night by proof that Judge Childs and Sheriff Huffman committed grave irregularities in the trials of the accused persons. Judge Childs is charged with having had a fixed belief which he expressed publicly, as to the guilt of all the defendants and despite this claim of the impeachment petitioners he presided in the trials.

District Attorney R. C. Hayes of Crescent City followed Sheriff Huffman and told of alleged depravities by Mrs. Bartol and Mrs. Harn. The conduct of the trials, he said, was regular and proper and no threats were made against any of the defendants that if they did not plead guilty they would get life sentences in the event of conviction before Judge Childs.

INDORSED JURIST'S NOTES. Two other witnesses also testified in behalf of Judge Childs. They were O. B. Lauff, a hotel man of Crescent City, and J. J. McNamara, a butcher of the same place. They went into details of the irregular financial transactions of J. P. Bowman, a former druggist, now serving a six year sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses, and of Judge Childs's methods of borrowing money.

McNamara testified that he loaned Bowman $3500 to cover a shortage in the Del Norte county treasury, which at the time was being examined by an expert accountant. Bowman, it developed, had borrowed freely from the treasury, and his only security was the notes he had given in return for the money.

Judge Childs is accused of having prevented a grand jury investigation of the treasurer's office, and the charge is one of the many specifications that he is unfit to occupy the superior bench.

Capitol Notes

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Declaring that San Joaquin Valley fruit growers were earnestly urging it, Senator Chandler succeeded in getting unanimous approval to a joint resolution asking the Federal Department of Agriculture to send here an expert on fruit tree diseases for aid in combating "Little Leaf." Chandler said he could not recall how many he had sponsored. He remembered two notes, however, which he and Judge Childs permitted to be outlawed. The amounts aggregated $1500, which was part of an estate which Judge Childs is charged with having looted.

Harbor Board Head Gets Raise in Pay

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, April 22.—J. J. Dwyer, president of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, was voted $1400 increase in salary, and the chief engineer of the board a $2000 increase by the passage of the Ryan bill in the assembly. These increases would make the salaries $5000 a year.

Two attempts by Schmidt and Rogers to amend the bill reducing the salaries of the president and the two members, to $600 a month were defeated after debate in which the harbor board was accused by Schmidt of being a "political patronage bureau." Rogers was content to give Dwyer a raise and he was content to reduce the other two members on ground that they did not devote more than two hours a day to their work. Schmidt tried unsuccessfully to bring all the board members down to a basis of $100 a month. The bill now goes to the senate.

If its original form, the bill to increase Dwyer's salary provided $10,000, but it was amended in committee.

Fix New License Tax on Motor Vehicles

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Forty-five cents a horsepower under the rating formula of the Association of Licensed Automobile Manufacturers, will be the new license tax on automobiles, according to an agreement reached by the parties in interest today upon the new motor not pending before the legislature. Although this lowers the average tax on individual cars it is reckoned that next year will bring the same income as the present year because of the normal increase in the number of automobiles of the State.

USING SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly. If at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary refined coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get refined coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

UPRISING IN CHINA NEARS OUTBREAK

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23. — "Inside of two months the revolution in China to overthrow President Yuan will be under way. Great stores of ammunition, which the revolutionary party used in the first rebellion to overthrow the Manchus, are being prepared for use and the Chinese are being trained in the use of arms."

So declared Wong Back You, secretary of the Chinese Nationalist League of America, the revolutionary party, upon his return to San Francisco from an extended tour through the United States, Canada and Cuba, on which he urged the Chinese to give their moral and financial support to the revolutionists.

Wong has been an active figure in the work of the revolutionary party, which has its North American headquarters in San Francisco. He is a coadjutor of Dr. Sun, now in Tokyo, who is reported to be directing plans in China for the rebellion against President Yuan.

On his return to San Francisco Wong was accompanied by Lin Sun, who was speaker of the Chinese Senate under the Sun administration. For a time he was private adviser to President Yuan, but later abandoned this post to join the revolutionists.

They will remain in San Francisco to attend the convention of the Nationalist League in this city from July 27 to August 2. At this meeting, to be attended by delegates from the 200 branches of the party in North America, the situation in China will be discussed in all its phases.

"Our trip was entirely satisfactory," said Wong, "and not only did we swell the ranks of our party but we enlisted many sympathizers in the cause."

"When Japan made her demands on China we sent an ultimatum to Yuan. We told him if he resisted Japan we would give China our funds to use as the government desired. But we expressed our determination to start a revolution if China gave in. We said that the Chinese of the United States would aid in the rebellion."

"Now Yuan has conceded and Japan has a 99-year lease on Manchuria. We have determined to rebel against him and his administration. Men are being mustered, Chinese who fought in the first revolution are training."

PRETTY COLLEGE MAIDS WILL DANCE IN CLEVER "FLAT LUX."

Seniors at State University Preparing for Extravaganza, Which Will Bring Their College Life to a Close

BERKELEY, April 23. — From the days of Pericles to those of Charles C. Moore have the student authors of "Flat Lux," this year's senior extravaganza at the University of California, ranged to find picturesque setting and costumes for the fourth-year students in their last year's dramatic effort of the senior class.

Miss Mila Cearley, as Minola, has the leading role in the burlesque and is given an opportunity to display the quality of her beautiful high soprano voice. Miss Hertha Todd, another attractive and accomplished member of the cast, will be the leader of the Pageant of Light.

There are 24 members in the cast proper and the choruses will number over 100. Sidney Howard and Frederick Faust are the joint authors.

The first dress rehearsal for the extravaganza which is to be given in the Greek theater on the evening of California day, May 8, took place yesterday afternoon. The tall eucalypti were alone accorded a sight of the beautiful gowns which have been especially prepared for the final dramatic effort of the senior class.

GIRL TANGLED BY CROSS QUERY

By Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, April 23.—Attorneys for Charles E. Sebastian went into the Superior Court today determined, they declared, to break down on cross-examination Edith Serkin, the 17-year-old witness, who testified last week that she had been the victim of a political plot to elect Mayor of Los Angeles.

As the girl resumed the stand she directly faced Mrs. Lillie Pratt, her half sister and guardian, who is accused of having aided Sebastian in an attack on her virtue.

Cross-examination needless and searching began immediately after Miss Serkin had completed a brief addition to her direct testimony which was interrupted by physical exhaustion.

Two points of Miss Serkin's testimony were played upon—her statement that she had been taken to the "temptation room" by Mrs. Pratt twice a week for a year and a half and the fact that she had been taken to the room by Mrs. Pratt together in the apartment next to police headquarters she had replied, "No."

"Why had she waited until Sebastian had become a candidate for office before telling of a thing that began a year and a half ago?"

"Was she lying when she talked to the probation officers, or was she lying now?"

"Were questions propounded today in varying forms."

WITNESS TANGLED.

It was the announced purpose of Earl Rogers, Sebastian's chief counsel, to pin the witness down to specific dates, if possible and then in forthcoming testimony of the defense to establish alibi.

But he devoted himself first to an attack upon Miss Serkin's direct testimony and succeeded in tangling her with one of his first questions.

"On Christmas eve," he asked, "you said you visited the room in the lodging house next door to the Central police station."

"Yes."

"How long did you stay there?"

"Afternoon and evening. I went home about 11 o'clock."

"Now is not it a fact that Mr. Pratt, Mrs. Pratt's husband, came into the city

NO MERRY LIFE FOR HIS BRIDE OR HIS CODE IS PUT AWAY AS FAILURE

When Mrs. Ella Mary Johnson of 1821 Myrtle street accepted John Wesley Marks of San Francisco as a husband in San Jose yesterday did she subscribe to the "dime rules of conduct" he laid down for his first wife, whom he divorced upon her failure to live up to them?

This is the question being asked today by the friends of the bride. In the meantime the couple are away on their honeymoon and the bride's mother refuses to make any statement regarding their nuptial contracts.

This is the agreement entered into by Marks and his first wife, Helen, which he introduced as exhibit A in a suit for divorce tried before Superior Judge Graham in San Francisco in November, 1913.

The undersigned, hereby pledge and promise to fulfill this on a train that evening, and you met him."

"Oh yes, I forgot that I met him at about 6:30 o'clock."

Then turning to the transcript of her direct testimony Rogers quoted to the girl her previous statement that she and Mrs. Pratt had met Sebastian at a hotel that evening.

"Did not you testify that?" Rogers demanded.

"Well, no, not exactly," stammered the witness and then she gave way to confusion.

Two—I shall not go out nights unknown to my husband.

Marks obtained a decree upon testimony to the effect that his wife had violated the terms of her agreement by visiting cafes without him. Particularly was No. 7 overlooked, it appeared from the hearing of the case.

BASE BALL

By
"Billy
Fitz."

A small illustration of a baseball player in a uniform, swinging a bat. The player is wearing a cap and has motion lines around the bat to indicate the swing. The ball is visible near the bat's head. The player is standing on a patch of ground, possibly a base or part of the field.

"Pop" Dillon, the solemn faced veteran of many wars, so seldom makes earth-

"I wish I could see the sweet boys," mused Pop, as he watched Terry and McMullen follow the crowd around the base during the warm-up. "I wish I could see them in the country that is as quick in starting a ground ball as a fielder."

"I see the experts speak of him as being so fast. He's not fast, he's quick in his feet and alerting his eyes. I don't want to see this boy make a play."

GAMES TODAY.

At San Francisco—Oakland vs. L.
At Los Angeles—Venice vs. San Francisco.

Portland—Salt Lake vs. Portland

After a hard game yesterday, even if it did not stir nervous prostration in the ninth inning.

Harry Williams, the Los Angeles pitcher, has completed pinch hitting status for the first three weeks of the season. In Oakland's last game, he pitched so well, when called upon to deliver in the crisis. Gardner was two out of eight was the only one on base. He was hit by the pitcher, Doug, Bob, Litsch, Arbogast, Elliott and K.

McMullen and Abstein, as lastest were the pitcher and catcher three weeks ago. It looked as though McMullen would be lucky if he was able to get the ball in time to retire Lindsay at first.

The ball on his left side at a difficult angle, turn him around and make a beautiful throw off balance to catch it in time to retire the runner.

Mott, another tall and passed almost unnoted to the plate.

"Long Tom" Hughes is the greatest pitcher of his age in baseball, and he can show most young pitchers a whole lot about covering positions.

Lindsay laid down the perfect bunt yesterday we have ever seen. It was more than eight feet from the plate and didn't get anybody on except the third base line. Hughes threw Johnston over by a yard, and we don't believe any other pitcher could have turned the trick.

Ever notice Harry Ables at the bat? Of course, you have, but you've watched him swing so many times that you're "Jumbo" ought to get big time in vaudeville with an act entitled "Myself At The Bat." He could be in three places. One place would be in the outfield where the notorious penchant for striking out is not the humorous side of it, though, just you wait, he'll be remembered for his school days for not timing reciting "Crispus Shall Not Ring Tonight," was ever as self-conscious or nervous as is Harry Ables when at the plate.

The big fellow's nervousness is pathetic.

Karr, the Southern league recruit pitcher, has joined the Seals in Los Angeles and may figure in one of the games against Venice this week.

Boles, who has been absent from the Angels because of the death of his father, has returned to the team yesterday and broke in with a hit. Judging from the manner in which McCallie pitched himself back to the plate yesterday, Boles will jump back in the game today.

Christian has quite a few cripples on the bench. Manda is suffering from bruised head, and Kuhn hurt a finger Wednesday's game.

Watson, the outfielder whom the Oats turned back to St. Joseph in the West Coast League, is a holdover and has been placed on the suspended list.

TRADEWISDOM FAVORED BY SENATE

Vocational Education Appropriation Bill Passed Unanimously.

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—The Senate today passed the vocational education appropriation bill, which provides for the establishment of a system of vocational schools in California to equip pupils of the grammar schools with technical training to enter trades was passed by the Senate unanimously today. Most of the bill entered upon President Benjamin H. Wheeler of the University of California, who was reported to have criticized vocational training.

"This is one of the most important and far-reaching bills ever passed by the legislature," said Senator Wolfe. "It is to teach the rudiments of trade to those who cannot get higher education."

"Significantly enough the only opposition has come from the president of the University of California, who said it is class legislation. With all due respect to him I believe this class of legislation is tenfold more important than the universities. This applies to the benefit of the very class whom the eminent gentleman fears we are going to restrict."

DEFEND WHEELER.
Senators Slater, Reed and Cogswell were on their feet in quick succession to the defense of President Wheeler. They declared the president has been misquoted and that a full text of his speech showed he had done an injustice.

"I was not prompted by an unfriendly feeling for President Wheeler or the university," replied Wolfe. "I am glad to learn that he is not opposed to vocational schools, but it is easy to fall into the mistake and I did not know a full text of his speech had been published."

"I do believe, however, that we are going higher education and that we are creating all generals and no soldiers."

Another bill permitting school trustees to provide normal courses to train teachers for vocational teaching was passed. The Thompson bill voting $15,000 for an investigation of the tax situation was amended so that it shall include a report and recommendation on the amount of refunds that should be made by the state to the counties on account of the less sustained through the withdrawal of railroad property from local taxation.

A bill by Senator Thompson increasing the salaries of the members of the board of control from $4000 to $5000 a year was passed. Senators Ballard, Duncan and Stuckenbruck voting in favor.

BANK ACT PASSES.
The amended bank act, Senator Hans, author, was passed by the Senate. It embraces many changes in terms so that the state law will conform to the federal reserve act. One provision requires express, telegraphic and other non-bank companies which deal in exchanges or transfers of money to be licensed by the state superintendent of banks. A section permitting the bank superintendent to remove any bank officer whom he deemed responsible for an unsound condition of the bank was stricken out in committee.

An appropriation of $10,000 was voted by the Senate for the expenses of a congressional committee coming to California this summer to investigate plans for river and harbor.

The cadets of West Point are invited to make their summer vacation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition this summer. In a resolution by Senator Scott unanimously adopted.

PRODUCE MEN AT FAIR.
Oakland's produce men and commission merchants will close their places of business at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and attend the Exposition. Tomorrow is to be Produce Men's Day, and Oakland's wholesale district will be deserted by the merchants at an early hour.

HARD TIMES BACK OF GOOD FORTUNE

"Scotty of the Zinc Fields," Is Man With Rare History.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 23.—Peter a good loser, who has lost more than most men will ever earn, and who pins his faith in the mining industry to such an extent that he laughs at failure and hangs on like a bulldog until he succeeds, and you have a mind's eye view of J. M. Scott, the best known operator in the mining district—the "Scotty" of the zinc fields.

Twenty-two years ago Scott was working for $125 a day at Galena, Kan., and a few years later moved to Joplin, landing here with the price of one ham sandwich. He worked for low wages until he had saved enough to buy a prospect drill, and decided to look for ore on his own responsibility.

MAKES LUCKY STRIKE.
His first few holes were blanks. However, he hung on until almost his last penny was gone; then luck smiled on him and he made his first strike. Short sold this "prospect" for $5000 cash, and immediately invested the whole amount in what was known as the Bunker mine, which to the zinc fields in the eighteen months, part of which—$1000—he reinvested in the Sacramento Zinc Company, from which he profited, inside of three months, to the tune of $17,000 more. A year later Scott again became "dead broke" on another mining venture and again went to work for wages.

AGAIN TOOLS FOR WAGES.
Depriving himself of all luxuries and many necessities, he continued to work for wages until he had saved up $1500, when he determined to again "try his hand." One day, during an extremely dry summer, he was driving his piece of land where the Sitting Bull mine was later developed. The formation looked good to Scott and he at once procured a forty-acre lease from the owner. With $1500, his sole capital, Scott drilled the ground, discovered a rich run of ore and sold down to the zinc fields in the level. The owner of the land put up the capital for building a $15,000 mill. Ninety days later Scott had paid for the mill, had $10,000 in the bank to his credit, and had a vast body of ore blocked out which netted him more than $100,000 in profits in the next few months.

NOW A ZINC GOESUS.
Almost immediately he secured another lease and opened up what is known as the Pocahontas mine, from which he cleared another $100,000. Then followed in quick succession the Gerontimo and the Wagon Wheel. Scott is now interested in, if not the entire owner of more than a dozen valuable properties, so that, with the sudden jump in price of zinc concentrates from $35 to $75 per ton, the "Scotty" of the zinc mines has but faint idea of what he is really worth.

TELLS "DADDY" TO HURRY HOME; THEN ENDS LIFE.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 23.—The slight of a woman's body hanging by the neck from a rope suspended from a second-story window at 2:30 in the afternoon attracted the attention of E. C. Peterson, carpenter, working at the home of E. A. Larson. Peterson ran inside the house, drew in the door and found it was that of Ruby Larson, 23 years old, daughter of his employer. She had been dead several minutes.

At 2 o'clock Miss Larson called her father at his grocery at the northeast corner of Seventeenth street and Madison avenue.

"Daddy," she said, "daddy, do you know this is my birthday?"

"Yes," the father answered, "and I have a present for you. I'll bring it home tonight."

"All right," the daughter answered, "but hurry home—I've got a surprise for you. Hurry home!"

That ended the conversation. The father was notified by telephone a short time later that his daughter was dead. Ruby to do such a terrible thing, the heartbroken father said when he had hurried home. Ruby had nothing to worry about. She had a good home and so far as I know never had a heart affair. At times, however, she was very despondent.

It was learned that Miss Larson was despondent because she had lost her position in a downtown office some time ago.

PATENT SHOCKER TO STOP BANK BURGLARS.
DEXTER, Mo., April 23.—The bank of Dexter has installed an apparatus in their building which is intended to foil robbers. It is probably the most effective, up-to-date burglar alarm system that can be found.

WOMAN AT 100 WANTS DARK HAIR

She Discovers Tonic and Proceeds to Grow Tresses in Old Age.

KANSAS CITY, April 23.—To reach a hundred years with golden brown tresses is the achievement which Mrs. Emily C. De Masters of this city expects to accomplish. Mrs. De Masters, who is ninety-one years old, has now discovered a new tonic to preserve the natural color of her hair—she is growing new strands of the golden-brown color of the hair of her youth, which turned gray years ago.

"By the time I am 100 years old," she says, "I expect to have as pretty hair as any girl."

Mrs. De Masters lives with her daughter, Mrs. John T. Davis. Her grandfather, John Nelson, who was one of the first settlers at Lexington, Mo., eighty-seven years ago, experienced the same phenomenon of his hair returning to its natural color in his old age.

Twenty years ago Mrs. De Masters recalled what she calls her second vision. Previous to that time she had worn glasses for several years. When the glasses began to hurt her eyes she consulted an oculist. Today she sees and reads with the naked eye.

In spite of her advanced age, Mrs. De Masters has perfect health. With the exception of a fall seven years ago, which has caused her to use crutches since, she has not been ill a single day for more than thirty years.

"Farm life is the fountain of youth," she said recently. "I always lived in the open until I came to Kansas City about twenty years ago. That is why I am alive today."

Health food and predigested foods do not interest Mrs. De Masters.

"I have always eaten just what I wanted," she said, "which, of course, was simple, wholesome food."

TOURING IN AUTO.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Seth H. Keene of Turner Center, Mo., arrived here a few days ago in an automobile in which they have traveled from their home in San Francisco, thence down the Pacific coast and to this point on their return trip. They have made so far more than 9000 miles, and still have more than 2500 miles to travel by the route which they have laid out before reaching home.

They left Turner Center June 1 last and have been traveling almost constantly ever since. They carry a camping outfit, and when they are unable to reach a comfortable hotel by nightfall they pitch their tent by the roadside and spend the night in it.

Baby of Future is Considered.
Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true we know from the great many splendid letters written on the subject that our "Mother's Friend" is a great help to expectant mothers. They write of the wonderful relief, how it seemed to allow the muscles to expand without undue strain and what a splendid influence it was on the nervous system. Such helps as "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future. In a little book for such women these hints are more thoroughly brought out and a copy will be mailed to anyone who will send us their name and address.

"Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores and highly recommended for its timely usefulness, its safety and the help it affords. Ask for it at the store and write us for the book. Bradfield Regulator Co., 311 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

LEAGUE TO DEFEND DESTITUTE GIRLS

Women Lawyers of Chicago Volunteer Services for Morals Court.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Members of the Public Defender's League met yesterday at the county building and arranged to begin the work of defending girls in the Morals Court within the next few days.

The Public Defender's League for the defense of destitute girls arranged in the Morals Court is a result of the belief that the girl question is as grave as the case of the boys who have received so much valuable attention in recent months.

"We believe that the same principles and advantages offered to the boys should be extended to the girls, and this need be what our women lawyers propose to supply. It has met with the hearty approval of all municipal judges."

Was the plan the outcome of the Public Defender's League, organized by Judge DeLoan, the suggestion for your league was asked of Miss Elizabeth L. Hoffman, secretary of the league and an ardent supporter.

"No," she replied. "We had been thinking about this long before any man had the idea."

There present at the meeting yesterday, besides President Carlin and Miss Hoffman, were Mrs. Irene Lebow, Miss Martha Elvert, Miss Grace Peter, Miss Clara Gleason, Miss Eunice Peter and Mrs. G. H. Hart.

PREVENTS TRAIN WRECK.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 23.—An attempt to wreck Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad passenger train near Eastbrook was frustrated by a boy, who flagged the train in time to prevent it from running into an obstruction placed on the track. A pile of ties had been placed on the track at the end of a curve.

PETRIFIED SNAKE.
BIG LAKE, N. D., April 23.—While blasting some limestone rocks in the side of Stone Mountain, near here, the workmen found a petrified snake imbedded in the rocks. The snake was coiled as if making ready to spring at some enemy it is believed to have been a copperhead.

VERY LOVING, THIS SWAIN But Bride-to-Be Asks About Her Gems

After an ardent swain who had wooed confidence and winning her consent to wed.

He was an ardent and fiery lover and he fairly doted on Miss Shaw by his numerous attentions. Finally she consented to him, and she says, three diamonds valued at $500. It was agreed that they should meet in Oakland and there the wedding ceremony was performed. Mrs. Shaw was the bride and Miss Shaw was the bridesmaid.

She declares that Milburn represented himself as a wealthy rancher and finally she became convinced that she had been succeeded in intrusting herself into her.

FAST TRAIN STOPS BY HORSE AT BELL ROPE.
DEFIANCE, O., April 23.—An engineer on a fast express on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad received a signal to stop his train near here. It was an emergency signal, so the train was stopped as quickly as possible.

The conductor, amazed at the sudden stop, ran to the engine and reached it just as the engineer was preparing to go back to the train to ascertain the trouble. Both were dismayed when told no person had given the signal.

An investigation of the express car, however, revealed that a horse had the signal cord in its mouth and was pulling it with all its might.

HOG, TRAPPED, LIVES 55 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

COOKVILLE, Tenn., April 23.—That a hog can live fifty-five days without food or water has been proved. Darn Dowell, one of Putnam county's prosperous farmers, states that he has a Duroc hog that lived for fifty-five days without either food or water in a deep ravine into which it had fallen and became entangled in the dense undergrowth, rendering its escape impossible.

The hog disappeared in January and was seen by the farmer a few days later. Both were dismayed when told no person had given the signal.

An investigation of the express car, however, revealed that a horse had the signal cord in its mouth and was pulling it with all its might.

RECLAIMS GIRL SHE GAVE AWAY

Young Woman and Mother Are Reunited After Long Separation.

LA CROSSE, Wis., April 23.—Hazel West, an "after-year-old" girl, who was taken away from Fred West, her foster-father, by Judge Brindley, because he had neglected her, has found her mother in a woman who has known all her life as a dear friend. Mrs. Fred Green, the mother, appeared before Judge Brindley and told the remarkable story of how she had given Hazel to the Wests when she was a baby because she herself was unable to care for properly.

In explaining the case to the judge, Mrs. Green said: "I was the mother of another child when Hazel was born, and we were too poor to care for both of them, and so Mr. West's urgent plea let them take her."

Not a week has passed since that I have not seen her. The Wests were better able to care for her than I, and I have been happy in the thought that she was being brought up in the right way. But since Mrs. West's death I have been worried, and now that she has been taken away from West I intend to keep her."

Mrs. Green is the wife of a railroad engineer. Hazel's father is dead.
